Renovation

A lot of times we fuss and fight with one another on a weekly basis, or maybe on a monthly basis. Or if its really bad, maybe on a daily basis. The problem is not when we quarrel with one another, it is when we do not show love and make an attempt to restore the situation.

The Bible talks about love A LOT in the word, but it is so hard to do at times, especially when we don't feel we're the guilty one in the situation. But true love is saying to yourself, "Although I may be right, I am still going to make an attempt to fix the situation." Or, "Although I did not start it, I will apologize..." Sometimes we have to step out of flesh and operate in the spirit, tear down the old self, and step into an act of Jesus Christ. Could you imagine Christ walking around with an attitude, talking about, "I would heal you...., but I'm not because you was talking about me on the mountain." That would be messed up, right? And with us, we murder each other with our mouths by the things that we say, or in this case, the things that we don't say.

When we actually step out and make an effort to correct the situation we are in the healing process; the restoration period; the renovation. We are acting like Christ when we make an attempt to bring back the friendship to the original condition - forgetting all that he/she may have said or done and putting everything in the past.

I encourage everyone to renovate things this month in their lives. Try to SINCERELY (in love) correct as many altercations as possible.

If we want God's blessings, then it is important for us to start forgiving forgetting. God shows us brand new mercies everyday just so he could bless us, and in return we are required to do the same.

April 3, 2004!

We now have a date for Gospelrama 2004. It will take place at Eisenhower Auditorium at Penn State University. Nothing else has been confirmed at this time.

We still need intercessors, sponsors, vendors, and volunteers for this event.

If anyone knows of any true anointed mime, step, choir, trios, or any other gospel arts ministries that would be a blessing to G-04, please e-mail us at SPN@silentpraise.org. (Doesn't matter where they are from).

Stay tuned for more information for G-04!
